DISCUSSES PEASANT-BORN BILL GATES

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

Bill Gates considers causes more breathing problems for me and severe pains in my body. I find out that this sordid man Bill Gates has various plans to kill non-white people and harm them in various ways in order to 'save the white race'. I am extremely disappointed at what the United States Government has done to protect my natural rights in this circumstance. He ought to have been arrested and put to death for harming me. He is an extremely malevolent dangerous criminal who was a charlatan about his intellectual genius all his life and is not a good coder either.

Why would United States Government allow him to do these things?

1. I AM EXTREMELY ANGRY

I am extremely angry that United States Government did not apprehend and neutralise Bill Gates more than a year ago when I first asked and allowed him to hurt me physically, financially, and put my family in stress, disrupt my American Dream and still he is at large. This is intolerable. He was a dyed-in-the-wool murderous racial criminal all his life. Why should I pay for the incompetence of the United States Government?

I have to hear racial slurs and plots day and night 24-7 while there are a million problems that I have.

2. ARISTOTLE'S VIRTUE-EUDAIMONIA THEORY REVISITED

There is a movement it seems to go against Aristotle's Virtue-Eudaimonia Theory looking at Christian Miller's book The Character Gap. I will go against this entire movement. My goal is ambitious. I have shown on empirical data that high moral values correlate with high life satisfaction. This along with the discovery of universal human moral nature are two of my greatest discoveries.

I may not spend the rest of my life attempting to apply these discoveries to improve life satisfaction of my beloved people the human race. Honesty is my fourth best strength, the top five are Love, Creativity, Curiosity, Honesty, and then Spirituality. I do not want to promise that I will definitely improve Life Satisfaction for eight billion human beings, but I think the goal is worthwhile, and I think the goal is better than many other things I could do for the remaining however many years of my life. I don't have experience dealing directly with large numbers of people, however, and so for this reason I am thinking of ways I could go around accomplishing this goal.

Date: April 8, 2022.

The method I devised, by a technology company might be the right answer, but I am unfortunately delayed because I have not yet been offered a tenured full professorship from HSOC yet, and I need some money. I am owed $620 million from Finance that is still blockaded by the sordid criminal Bill Gates who, I heard from his own confession in meta, has been killing non-white people and collecting their skulls as a major hobby. This is the sort of headache that I never envisioned I would have in America, but that's just one more day in the life of Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed.

3. ISSUE OF HOW TO CHANGE THE WORLD

This is an important issue, and so I want to point out something interesting here. All people have natural rights of life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness, everywhere in the world. The idea that there is any way to change anything at all, influence their decisions, in any other way than rhetoric and persuasion is foolhardy. There are no possibility of producing any better world by any sort of coercion. This is absolutely crucial, that no coercive method will ever yield any change of the world worth having.

My great discoveries will change the world by mostly rhetoric and persuasion because there are no other legitimate methods to change the world.

The consequence of this observation is that it is not the technology for delivery that is crucial but the ability in honest rhetoric that is crucial for success. And I think that the world is still primitive in the refinement of persuasive rhetoric that can have transformative impact.

I am not as naive as I was in youth when I thought that if I discover something that has the potential to change the world that it is inevitable that the world will change. The changing of the world requires superior advances in rhetoric of persuasion.

4. QUANDARY OF NO RHETORIC EXPERIENCE

I have worked as a quant in Finance and as a coder in startups and as a scientist in biotechnology. I have no actual experience in commercial sales. I am thinking that this is an opportunity rather than a deficiency. I mean when I ask Harvard and Stanford to give me $80 million for 40% of my company I am not using any sales techniques; I am just asking them for money with total entitlement, that since I made great discoveries and want to change the world, they ought to esteem me as a great genius and just give me the money because I am a great man. So far I haven't seen a penny.

This leads me to the fundamental question of rhetoric. You mean, it's not enough that I am a great immortal genius with benevolent intentions for the world? Finance trusts me because I am a Finance man, but I am not a tenured professor for many decades so Harvard and Stanford are probably not persuaded yet that they ought to give me money over racial agenda obstructions of Bill Gates.

What is the solution to this problem? Harvard and Stanford, what is the major malfunction with you? Should I think that you're just deluded, that you don't appreciate how important and feasible are my goals, how lofty my ambitions, and how important for the world my discoveries? Are you having trouble being persuaded because I happen not to be well-off? What ails your understanding of the situation?

Being a good Princetonian, I am not interested in retail persuasion to sell some product; this does not seem equal to my dignity. Instead, I am naturally drawn to the question of legitimate global persuasion. The question that interests me is how do you persuade people of something when they are not your kin, your good friends for years, and people who have developed relationships with? The key is of course that genuine benevolence is required. This seems quite fundamental. Genuine honesty and genuine benevolence towards the people of the world is necessary for persuasion, for persuasion is ultimately dependent on a trust that you represent benevolent intentions towards the well-being of the audience, and that can be faked but cannot be faked for long periods of time with impunity. I do not believe that indefinitely you can fake benevolence and persuade people. Bill Gates is the limit of what has been possible in the past.

5. NOTION OF GENUINE HUMAN RACE BENEVOLENCE

The truth is that I am a smoker with diabetes, and I have not been holding a good paying job for more than a decade, and I have been diligently working on things out of my own interest, Four-Sphere Theory, Universal Human Psychology, and my own deep-seated need to do something out of love for my beloved people the human race. What can I do with the means that I have to service my love of the human race? That is still an open question.

What does it even mean to have genuine love for my beloved people the human race? I do not even know fifty people all that well. How can I meaningfully love eight billion people? I think the concept of love of eight billion people is a highly nontrivial question, and one that is worth asking intellectually. The link between ability to persuade eight billion people of anything and actually having genuine love for eight billion people are inextricably tied by simple reasoning.

I submit that this is a question of enormous importance for the future of the human race. The issue is not 'credibility' as understood in American industry, or even in affairs of nations. It is something more profound and more important.

6. I DON'T PUT UP WITH INSOLENCE OF BILL GATES

I was actually homeless in New York between July and December of 2008. I don't put up with insolence of sordid creeps and charlatans like Bill Gates. He is no philanthropist and is a charlatan about other aspects of his alleged achievements. My achievements are thousands of times greater than his. I am an immortal genius and he's an amoeba, everything about whom is fake. He actually has the hobby of killing nonwhite men and collecting skulls, disgusting things like his propensity to walk around with jars of human feces in public.

I want to actually get notice and get money in my bank from Harvard Board quickly. Your long association with Bill Gates will damage your reputation. Your delays in handling my request for tenure and money will not help your cause.

7. BILL GATES IS NOT A PHILANTHROPIST

A philanthropist is someone who has a benevolent love for the human race. Bill Gates is a malevolent rotten cunt and has not even an iota of philanthropy in him. I see through him very easily. He can fool all the people of West and East but he will never fool me. I know this with absolute certainty. He is not a philanthropist, has never been one, and is totally incapable of being one. He doesn't have what it takes.

8. NEED FOR CONFIDENCE THAT GLOBAL LIFE SATISFACTION CAN BE MANAGED

I was inspired by the 22 year old Magnus Carlsen's interview with Charlie Rose where he emphasizes that overconfidence and optimism is good in chess. I am not a good chess player and currently at 1450 range but I think this is what is necessary for me in Positive Psychology and Virtue-Eudaimonia. These seem quite far today from being able to actually change the world but I think I will have to be the one to do it, and I gain inspiration also from John Maynard Keynes and central banking when inflation was originally controlled. I need Harvard and Stanford and others in funding me immediately because I am a great immortal genius and if I do not lead the effort to manage global Life Satisfaction, no one else will do it for another century and the world needs this right now as the population grows and things become harder because of how big these problems are.

9. THE REASON THE WORLD IS MESS IS BECAUSE OF IDIOCY OF PEOPLE AT HARVARD BOARD AND OTHERS

Bill Gates is focused only on destroying and murdering me and distracting everyone with bullshit. So he succeeds. While Harvard Board and others simply need to focus on getting me tenure and money and killing Bill Gates. They will do everything possible to delay this and so Bill Gates destroys me, claims success, Harvard Board is the loser and Bill Gates gloats about his power and Harvard Board and others tsk tsk and don't want blame for it and keep everything quiet because they don't want to look bad.

This is why the world is in bad shape. People at Harvard Board and others don't know what is right, what is wrong, what is priority, botch things up and then do everything possible to explain how sad the world is and how blameless they are.

10. FINE HARVARD BOARD I'LL PROVIDE YOU WITH SOME LEADERSHIP

Harvard Board, don't institutionalise my leadership. I don't have the energy or time. You see when you are dealing with a hardcore criminal murderer with ambitions to rule the world and usurp United States Government powers as an illegitimate tyrant, you cannot behave in a "modern" way exactly. You need to seek within and find nobility of the soul. Don't do costume drama of Henry IV or anything, or Lorenzo de Medici, but take nobility and courage, God and country, old concerns seriously. You ought to want to behead and burn the criminal at the stake for unholy crimes, have courageous noble speeches. Do those things in your private restrooms. You need to know the right decisions by invoking some old world altar-and-throne situations. Then you need to translate that into modern legitimate actions. Do you understand? You all have read Machiavelli's The Prince. Always have the right answer at least under your breath. Then you can temper it to seem New World later. If you are noble, good, and just, that's the right answer. Then don't be meek and say "Oh my god, this Zulf is so unknown and without money, how can we trust him?" Well know that whatever high falutin movies you watch or watched to impress your romantic partners past or present, I've been there. Wong Kar Wai, got it covered, and yes the ladies do love Fallen Angels. You don't need to trust Zulf. Zulf is Zulf and Harvard Board is Harvard Board. You got to do what you got to do, but at least don't embarrass your children. It will take them decades to regain respect. Good luck and may the Light be with you.

11. THAT'S GOOD NOW DON'T STEP ON EACH OTHER LIKE CLUMSY DANCERS

You see, these parts of ourselves, they are necessary for our sanity; normally we only reveal them to our intimate romantic partners but in this case you need them more for the sake of Harvard's future. The problem is that you're not coordinated and so you will need to go a bit easy and learn to work harmoniously. It's not exactly anachronistic; these are natural parts of the modern soul, but they are not out in the plain. Normally you have your guard up. You need to learn how to get these things working in harmony. Bill Gates is a rotten fool who absorbed the worst of all ages, so to speak. Be careful. These things are real parts of you so you do want to do this gradually but you can even eventually do some of this as part of your normal public self too. They are not artificial, and not really unconscious. It's appropriate to call them part of your Romantic Self. They have your wisdom, more than when you are not going through them and attempting to match bureaucratic demands.

Remember, if you botch it and your colleagues poison your food to rid of your tyranny, I bear no responsibility and will disavow all knowledge obviously. "Poisoned, huh? Well, I'll be damned. Intense!"

12. FINE HERE IS MY SOLUTION

What would you do if you encountered a Sauron-type Demon in Medieval England? Well, if you are like me, you'd storm his Castle, burn him at the stake after taking down his guards and for good measure you'd cut out his tongue just in case.

You can't do that in 2022. So what you need to do is experience this particular event within and you will know the right answer. Then talk amongst yourselves and have some kwofi.

I can't tell you more. You must do what your heart tells you.

13. UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR WAR CRIMES AGAINST MYSELF

Even though I have American papers here:

United States Government is illegitimate versus Preamble of United States Declaration of Independence as well as War Crimes versus me, and Bill Gates is their instrument. They believed Bill Gates that I had forged papers even though I had government assigned papers and so I want these traitors fried. That's true. Good. I am glad Harvard Board knows the record and has access to my blog entries, warnings, etc. archived in Github.
