RUMINATES ON VIRTUES AND LIFE SATISFACTION

1. SEEKING TENURE AND FUNDING FROM HSOC

HSOC stands for Harvard-Stanford-Oxford-Cambridge. Harvard Board is moving too slowly towards decision to offer me tenured full professorship and offer $80 million for 40% of Thyself. I have been asking for this for many months now, but Harvard Board has not responded yet. I have both new scientific advances in understanding Universal Human Nature as well as entrepreneurial applications that could, in the end, allow us to manage the world's life satisfaction levels rationally.

What is critical to understand is that what we can offer for individuals is some solid and reliable personalised information that will allow all people to improve their own life satisfaction. The technology stack involves Document Management and massive scale web-mobile I/O. I have some test code to show a primitive version [1]. I have held senior positions in software architecture and can design high quality software based on Meteor that can resolve arbitrary use cases in the life satisfaction space.

2. LIFE SATISFACTION IS A FUNCTION OF VIRTUES

The wisdom literature of all old world cultures have told the youth that being virtuous is the secret to healthy and wealthy and happy life. For centuries there have been a backlash that became fashionable in Europe and then elsewhere. My empirical results show that the backlash did not stand on solid ground, and that life satisfaction is correlated with higher moral values. And so based on this more solid ground the world is ready for a great revolution reviving the tarnished and abused great genius Aristotle and I am proposing a technology venture to lead in this space.

3. THE FAILURES OF ANIMAL ANALOGIES

For human nature understanding, Plato and Aristotle were wiser in many ways than modern post-Darwinians in that the subject of Aristotle began with a separation from animals. And this is the right thing to do until further understanding is gained about mammalian instinct and intuition. The reason is that human nature is not sufficiently similar to great ape nature as we have regularities in behaviour that are not present at all in great apes.

The relationship hypothesised between Virtues and Eudaimonia by Aristotle stands still true and mysterious after 2361 years as still not understood fully for universal human nature. This is a reflection of the profound genius contained in Aristotle's Nicomachean Ethics that is still mysterious. This needs to be understood for secrets of nature here will transform the future of our species for the better.

4. HARVARD BOARD PLEASE RESPOND WITH FUNDING AND TENURE

I see that many of you at the Harvard Board have been active in global service. My breakthroughs in Virtue-Eudaimonia Theory is a monumental advance in how we can leverage knowledge about human nature to provide higher life satisfaction for all people of Earth eventually in a way that is tractable and also in a way that has not been thought possible for intellectual movements that had deviated from the truth for centuries. I am keen to see a good and rapid right decision on the part of the Harvard Board and affiliates. Please do not delay, the world is waiting.

5. ZULF IS QUITE SURPRISED BY DELAY IN RESPONSE BY HARVARD BOARD

Perhaps it was the burning of the Library of Alexandria that removed all record of the coming of Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed. I do not understand how a profound immortal genius such as myself was not avidly sought out and funded, offered garlands and ceremonies, provided adorations of millions of people, and certainly offered tenure and funding for my monumental gesture of goodwill for the peoples inhabiting this planet.

My great advances in Four-Sphere theory as well as Human Nature has attracted those of a parasitical nature, hidden war criminals, such as Bill Gates into horrible motion. I do hope that Harvard Board and other are prepared to neutralise the savage monster and do right by me and by billions of innocents who deserve my work to be implemented with funding.

6. I AM THE PIONEER FOR LIFE SATISFACTION MANAGEMENT

Before me, for millenia, there has been confusion regarding whether life satisfaction of individuals can be managed. I have an affirmative answer to this extremely delicate question. This alone should have led to spontaneous enthusiasm by Harvard Board and other affiliates to offer me tenured full professorship and funding to move forward with my project. The delay here is inexplicable to me and senseless.

7. THE TOP PRIORITY FOR ME IS ACCESS TO FUNDS

Bill Gates had used illegitimate powers to starve me of all legitimate and all income. My family members' lives are put in peril as a result. The top priority of Harvard Board therefore ought to be that I receive funds. You can arrange with Wells Fargo and allow $80 million to be available to my credit card and that will take care of the top priority problem. Then we can discuss other issues at a later time.

8. HUMAN NATURE IS DISTINCT FROM CHIMPANZEE NATURE

Sometimes Darwinian biological scientists miss the very obvious when focused on questions of long evolution, and the obvious is that the human brains are 1300-1400 cc in volume while chimpanzee brains are 300 cc. This is just one of our differences from chimpanzees. We built the pyramids with an organisation and understanding of physics that are not possible for our evolutionary cousins. There should never be any confusion that human nature is unique among all species on Earth.

9. HOW DID A WAR CRIMINAL BECOME A CELEBRITY TYCOON IN AMERICA?

As we ponder about human nature, as I do these days, seeking clear insight that could transform the lives of eight billion for the better, I do wonder about the strange situation that a malevolent dyed-in-the-wool brutal savage war criminal – Bill Gates – how he managed to gain a great deal of wealth, power and privilege in America. That he is a malevolent war criminal is without any doubt for me.

10. THE PROBLEM OF DECOMPOSING 24 DIMENSIONAL SPACES

We follow Martin E. P. Seligman in measuring Virtue levels of individuals in 24 Dimensions. Now every person on Earth $h \in \mathcal{H}$ has a unique virtue signature $v(h) \in E = [0, 1]^{24}$. We are interested in algorithms that are able to handle advice or information services that are individualised based on geometric partitions of E.

Assume that E is the disjoint union of R_j for $j \in J$. We want services classified by $j \in J$ and give the same service to $h_1, h_2 \in \mathcal{H}$ if both $v(h_1), v(h_2) \in R_j$.

This simple conceptual scheme becomes a significant challenge because $|J|$ is large and we have to ensure that we still have ability to quickly associate the services S_j for $j \in J$.

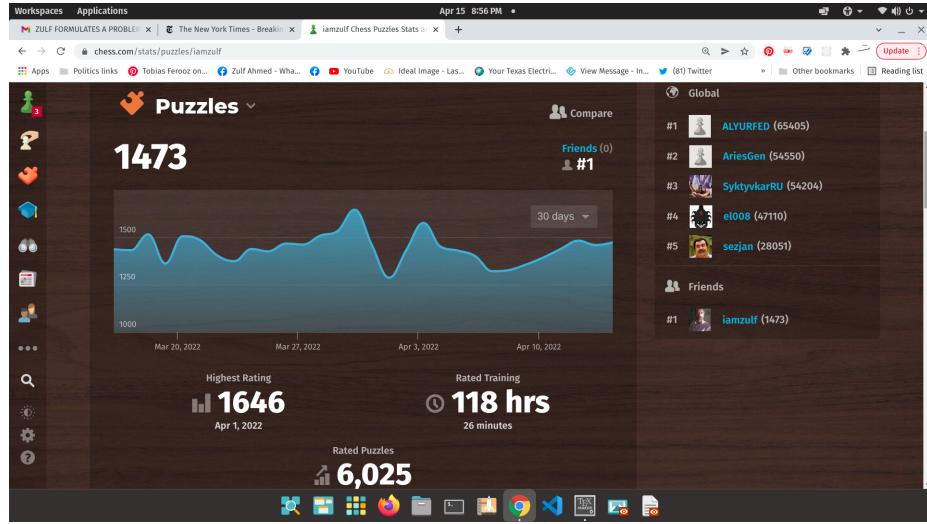

This is a problem that we must resolve keeping fidelity to human nature discoveries.

11. SPECIALISED MONGODB INTERFACES TO GEOMETRIC PARTITION IS A GOOD IDEA

It is a good idea to implement specialised Geometric Partition organisation, insertion and retrieval. This will allow the top level software to use intuitive logic based on the natural organisation of the data as well as the services, and encapsulate the lower level interfaces that use different abstractions as implementation details.

12. PSYCHOLOGISTS GENERALLY UNAWARE OF TECHNOLOGY APPROACHES

Psychology deals with combinatorial problems in the humanistic manner and is not familiar with technology approaches. These latter approaches could substantially benefit psychology. The problem of the last section is of this type. In this case technology is necessary to produce a solution that is effective for vast application, and will force psychologists to stay disciplined for coverage of the human race.

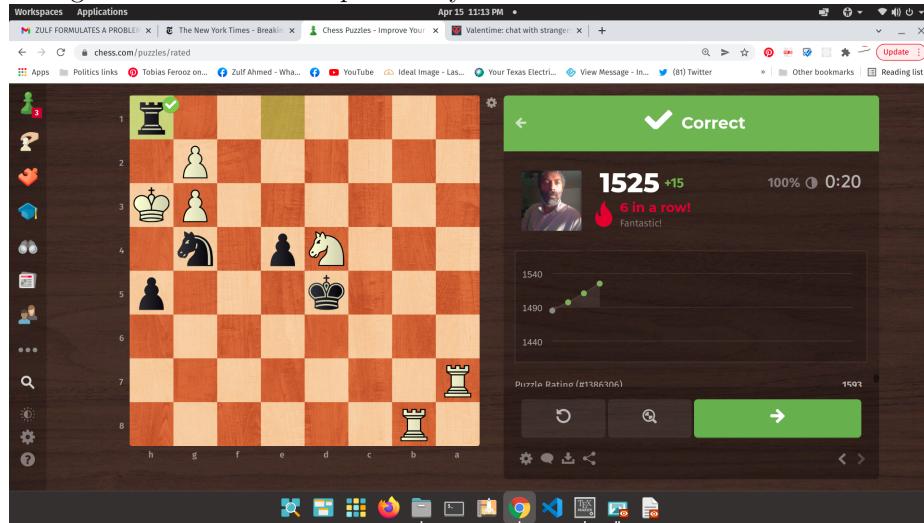

It's true that for these sorts of problems, Computer Scientists can lead the Psychologists into leveraging technology solutions to handle human variation and radically transform the ways that Psychology operates. You see, for people with experience with volumes of empirical data, the organisational methods of Psychology will seem quaint and ad hoc. That's expected because psychologists, even though in theory their subject addresses human variability, in practice had been narrowly confined to small sample studies rarely exceeding $N = 500$. As a result they do need the experience of Computer Scientists to expand their reach.

Computer Scientists ought to formalise the study of Geometric Partitions of state spaces as this area is geared primarily to handling personalised addressing of human variability in eight billion. There will be large classes of applications in this space from all social scientists who wish to consider personalised individual uniqueness applications of their theory and theory building will use the technology advances here after a while.

13. I AM A STAUCH SINGLE HUMAN RACE MAN

Some people might expect that being a victim of a White Supremacist I would slide away from a strong staunch Single Human Race position. This would be a horrible event for me, since I am 48 and it took my four decades of hard work to be clear that there is just a single human race, and go against the popular five-races-of-man scheme begun by Karl Linneaus in the late eighteenth century. I cannot in good conscience do this. If I were taking a tactical position, then it might have been feasible, but I know that single human race is the truth, and I will hold to this position regardless of consequences just as I hold to $2+2=4$. It is both provably true on genetic data as well as part of my faith.

14. MY THOUGHTS ABOUT OSHO

Osho was an extremely intelligent man, although he was not a scientific man. And As you can see from my Character Strengths, Spirituality is my fifth strongest Virtue.

Osho appeals, I think to people who have strength in Spirituality in Martin E. P. Seligman's categorisation, although for me this is speculation. I would be surprised if this did not hold true in the population.

My strengths are also in natural science, and Osho is more mystical than I prefer. Nevertheless Osho is valuable as a source of inspiration, and unless Harvard Board amends their errors and gives me tenure and funding, I will definitely turn more to Osho and abandon those who have failed me.

15. HARVARD BOARD YOUR ETHICAL INTEGRITY WILL BE A WIDESPREAD CONCERN

Look, my life is threatened by one of the worst human beings ever to have lived on Earth, a man with whom you had friendly relations for four decades, and furthermore he revealed (a) he kills non-whites and collect their skulls, (b) he plots genocide of non-whites in America. I have asked you to secure tenured full professorship and funding for many months, at least six months. You have not responded in any way that would satisfy any empiricist that you have good intentions towards myself. You may or may not get away unscathed, but it's not so easy to harm Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed. You will find your reputation for ethical integrity challenged around the world afterward. I want you to be aware of consequences of your (in)-action.

16. MY PHYSICAL BODY IS IN SOME TWISTED POWER EXERCISE OF BILL GATES

Bill Gates had brazenly and violating both international and national laws invaded my Blood Meta and Deep Interior more than a year ago exercising (a) US Industrial Power, (b) US War Power, and (c) European Black Magic Power continuously twisting around my meta to harm me physically and violating my natural right is ways forbidden during wars to Prisoners of War. I do not understand what allows United States to continue to be considered a Civilised Nation when these things happen on American Soil.

17. OSHO: MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Not making a difference with your life, says Osho, is lacking Creativity. Now I know that Creativity is my second strongest Virtue, and so I can interpret Osho's statement to suggest that I must make a difference in the world. This is deeply sensible to me now, as I had spent a decade of my life working without pay and without institutional support and without reasonable income on Four-Sphere Theory. Harvard Board's silence here is quite stunning show of lack of respect for my work, as I know that it is work of immortal genius. I know that the physicists worldwide have taken Four-Sphere Theory seriously. And yet Harvard Board delays recognising me with tenure and funding. My Creativity has shown fruit, but I have to be careful about having wrong expectations about what sort of organisation Harvard University is and what sort of people the Harvard Board are.

18. LYS WALTEN AND SOME PURPOSE OF MY LIFE

Lys K. Waltien is here.

She encouraged me during high school 1987-1991 to pursue Mathematics and Science. I was devoted to her as a mentor. And the blossoming finally occurred decades later in 2018. I completed Four-Sphere Theory then. This is the best Science ever imagined possible by Man.

19. ON BOREDOM

I was listening to Osho on boredom. He is quite insightful. One point is that we are bored when we do not have purpose in our lives. This is true, and having the best corporate earnings to be able to afford the finer things in life is not enough; I know. I sought higher purpose, and in the end, I resolved to fulfill the hopes of Lys K. Waltien, and I succeeded in Four-Sphere theory beyond my wildest expectations. The world did not care enough to send me a congratulation note and I had to check my own work and come to the conclusion of my phenomenal success in the Final Theory of Nature myself.

I extended my purpose, to reconstruct the Natural Science of Man, and be a great immortal genius who transformed the world. There are no algorithms here. Soon I found myself the target of War Crimes by the malevolent super-villain Bill Gates.

It seems that being homeless for six months, working for a decade afterward for great success in Science is not enough in the so-called modern civilised world to deserve a comfortable life. Instead one has to solve problems that no one else faces.

The fluctuations in my chess rating are normal, but it is nice to stay above 1500 a bit longer. This has been my weakness so far.

20. OPEN LETTER TO RUSSIA

Look, Russia, I love you but you made a fatal strategic blunder with this invasion of Ukraine. You should have let Asia handle natural rights issues and not jumped into war. You will strengthen NATO support by this maneuver and will find that in 20 years you have not fulfilled your war objectives. All manner of funky death-toys of America will be going over to Ukraine whether you like or not.

What will you have accomplished. Nothing compared to if you had listened to Zulf.

21. INSTRUCTIONS TO FUTURE HISTORIANS

Today is April 16 2022. I thought I would give you some ideas about how you could go about writing my biography, say The Life And Times of Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed, Immortal Genius. First and foremost you must realise that I had never actually met Bill Gates in person. He was attracted to me because of my accomplishments, in a negative manner. I discovered from 2019 that he had been a vile disgusting filthy racial butcher all his life and that is the beginning of our conflict.

I recommend the legend of Saint George and his travails versus the evil dragon. I am not an equestrian, but by my stellar knightly character, I think this is an appropriate model of my life.

22. SPIRITUALITY IN GENERAL

Spirituality and religiousness refer to beliefs and practices that are grounded in the conviction that there is a transcendent (nonphysical) dimension to life. These beliefs are persuasive, pervasive, and stable. They inform the kinds of attributions people make, the meanings they construct, and the ways they conduct relationships. (p. 600, Seligman)

I really benefit from the serious effort put by Seligman to make precise the notion of Spirituality. You see, Spirituality is my fifth strongest Virtue, and so the future historians will benefit from the way that Four-Sphere Theory I offer gives concreteness to what 'nonphysical' means in a theoretical physics. It will at first seem to be contradictory but four-sphere theory posits a geometry in four spatial dimensional sphere in addition to time. This four-sphere is all of existence, and the physical hypersurface is embedded in it. This happens to provide a coherent Final Theory of Physics with concrete and interpretable reality to the 'nonphysical' part of life. This is testable and not part of faith. There are effects that are in theory detectable in the physical hypersurface that originate outside it.

"The story of St George defeating the evil Dragon and at the same time rescuing a young princess is a popular subject in the history of art. It is found on many religious icons (often minus the princess); other notable paintings of the legend include those by Paolo Uccello, Tintoretto and Rubens, all featuring the same imagery of courageous St George lunging at the Dragon on horseback while the rescued maiden looks on (and, in the case of Tintoretto, runs dramatically right towards the viewer). The tale has strong Christian overtones: St George, an early Christian knight, slays the Dragon in an act of Christian heroism — a dragon also being visually similar to the Serpent of Eden — and apparently caused a mass conversion as a result. For the Pre-Raphaelites, however, it was an ideal tale of romantic medieval chivalry and was lyrically illustrated by Edward Burne-Jones and Dante Gabriel Rossetti among others.” [2]

I am not Christian myself, but I think the myth of Saint George is appropriate in this case, even though my background is Islamic from my parents, and between 1979-2008 I was atheist. This is because I am a virtuous man who possesses some of the qualities of a saintly knight, and because Bill Gates being defeated will protect natural rights of a hundred million Americans against who Bill Gates has genocidal hatred.

I am expecting today, in April 16 2022, that the contemporary men and women will not appreciate my immortal genius not just with four-sphere theory but also revival of Aristotle’s Virtue-Eudaimonia theory and other great discoveries. As a result I plan to ensure archives of my work survives intact for several centuries, and I will be canonised as a saint by the Catholic Church and recognised as a transformative genius in Science, and a champion for Natural Rights World Order. I chose this myth of Saint George slaying the Evil Dragon as a Symbol of my conflict with Bill Gates because it is quite appropriate.

Of course no one controls their immortal reception, but I do make the appeal to future historians because it is wise and appropriate. I have never ridden a horse at all, so this is not a physical similarity. It is a spiritual Symbol – in the way of Carl Gustav Jung or Claude Levi-Strauss.

23. HOW WILL POSTERITY KNOW ABOUT ME?

The first answer is my archived work in Github, which is public and free and unlikely to be destroyed by Bill Gates. For example some of my Human Nature notes are in [?]. Diligent historians will not have to work hard to find some of my archived work. Four-Sphere Theory notes are also archived in the same account.
